Summary

More than six years of data intensive research experience using R, Python, Matlab and GIS. Strong academic training and extensive experience with data mining and machine learning methods. Developed a rainfall prediction tool that uses various prediction models, including Random Forest, Artificial Neural Network, Support Vector Machines and Boosting, for any geographic location with Shiny, HTML, JavaScript, and CSS. Data Science enthusiast. In addition to the data science courses I have done in grad school, I have taken more than 20 edX, Coursera and Udacity data science courses with R, Spark, Python, Matlab, and Hadoop and MapReduce. Have done various data science related projects. Please visit my website for details on the projects I have worked on, data science related courses I have taken in grad school, online data science certifications and more.

Education

Johns Hopkins University , Baltimore, MD --- Ph.D. in Atmospheric Physics	2015/2016
Johns Hopkins University , Baltimore, MD ----M.A. in Atmospheric Physics	May 2013
University of Connecticut , Storrs, CT -----M.S. in Hydro-climatology	May 2011
Mekelle University , Ethiopia -----B.Sc. in Civil Engineering	June 2006

Research Positions

Graduate Research Assistant , Department of Earth and Planetary Science, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland.	August 2011 – 2015
Graduate Research Assistant , Department of Natural Resources and the Environment, University of Connecticut, Storrs, CT	2009 – May 2011

Teaching Experience

Teaching assistant (TA) , Department of Earth and Planetary Science, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland.	Spring 2013
Assistant Lecturer , Department of Civil Engineering, Mekelle University, Ethiopia	2006-2009

Publications

Three peer-reviewed publications in the Journal of Climate (JCL), which is among the most prestigious Journals in Atmospheric Science, one in preparation and a master's thesis.

Presentations

More than 12 presentations, including in prestigious international conferences such as the American Geophysical Union (AGU) and the American Meteorological Society (AMS).
